Austin owned. Texas proud.

Our story is pretty simple.

As a local business, we've grown up along with Austin. Nearly 40 years ago—before Austin was weird—we began serving the local community as a small copy shop. Over the years, our staff has become family and our customers have become friends. And while we do our share of business around the country, it's always nice to see or hear from our friends and neighbors here. We really enjoy working with our customers to turn their concepts into reality and help them achieve success in whatever they do. It fosters a broader sense of community.

We're locally owned and proudly support those who have helped us grow.

FROM THE DIRECTOR

Greetings friends,

It's my pleasure to welcome you to Chorus Austin's final concert of our 59th season. We are thrilled to once again be offering a fun-filled, casual atmosphere pops concert to conclude our year.

This unique concert offers us a chance to explore different musical styles, as well as share talented acts from within the Chorus Austin family. This year, we come to the cabaret, which is a fun-filled and far reaching style. From the romantic to the ridiculous, wistful to witty, and haunting to hilarious, you'll enjoy tunes by Cole Porter and Irving Berlin, to songs from the musical "Cabaret" and others. You'll hear standards, pop, R&B, new songs, and maybe even a "traditional" choral moment or two. Inspired to dance? Please do! We are excited to present tonight's cabaret for you...and, as always, there are bound to be surprises along the way!

I am particularly delighted to introduce Aria Rey to our Chorus Austin community. This incredible performer has a background in vocal performance and is known around Austin for sensational drag performances. Combining stunning vocal prowess with the art of drag was a possibility we couldn't pass up as we put tonight's cabaret together...I have thoroughly enjoyed collaborating with this great artist, and lovely human, and know you'll agree that Aria is an Austin treasure!

Let me take this moment to thank you for your continued support of Chorus Austin and of live music making. Times continue to be challenging for arts organizations as we are still emerging from the pandemic's "dark times," and we are grateful for all of the support we have received this season. We have all learned to not take anything for granted, and treasure every opportunity to be together to share the joys of live singing with our community.

Lastly, let me take this opportunity to invite you to our 60th anniversary season, which will be a spectacular year filled with great music and collaboration we are excited and eager to share with you all. Our diamond anniversary year won't be complete without YOU!

Now, please sit back, relax, have a drink, and enjoy as we come to the cabaret!

In Harmony,

Ryan Heller

ABOUT CHORUS AUSTIN

Through its commitment to excellence, Chorus Austin creates passionate musical experiences that inspire community.

A rich tradition of great choral music and modern musical innovations mark Chorus Austin, a non-profit community-based organization under the guidance of Artistic Director and Conductor Ryan Heller. Chorus Austin hosts a full season of six or more concerts annually, including large-scale productions by its 180-voice Symphonic Chorus and more intimate concerts by its Chamber Ensemble.

This season, Chorus Austin celebrates 59 years of continuously providing the best in choral music to the Austin and Central Texas community. Founded as the Austin Civic Chorus as part of Austin's City Parks and Recreation Department, "for all Austin-area residents who like to sing," the group quickly incorporated as an independent organization. In 1999, the acclaimed Handel-Haydn Society joined with Austin Civic Chorus under the umbrella of Chorus Austin.

A distinct part of the Chorus Austin history is encouraging new music. The group has commissioned a variety of new works, including the award-winning The Unutterable by internationally respected composer Robert Kyr. During the 2015-2016 season, Chorus Austin premiered two commissioned works: On a Winter's Eve by West Coast composer Karen Thomas, and The Contemplations of Hafiz, a major, multi-movement composition for chorus, orchestra and soloists by acclaimed Austin composer Donald Grantham. In 2014, Chorus Austin initiated its Young Composers Competition, showcasing works by rising young artists, and in 2023 garnered the organization's first ever grant from the National Endowment for the Arts in support of the Tenth Anniversary of the concert sharing the work of these composers, Southwest Voices.

Over the decades, as one of the oldest continuously performing music organizations in the area, Chorus Austin has amassed awards, accolades and invitations, both nationally and on a local level. The group was honored in 2013 as winner of the national Chorus America/ASCAP Alice Parker Award for programming recently composed music. The group also was twice a national finalist for the prestigious American Prize. KMFA Classical 89.5 radio placed Chorus Austin as one of the Top 10 Classical Highlights of 2016 for its performance of the newly commissioned work The Contemplations of Hafiz. And in April 2017 Chorus America and the American Composers Forum awarded Chorus Austin and composer Joshua Fishbein the Dale Warland Singers Commission Award. Beyond the notes, Chorus Austin cares deeply for its community. Their commitment to equity and diversity was honored by the City of Austin this year by being awarded one of the city's first ever ELEVATE grants.

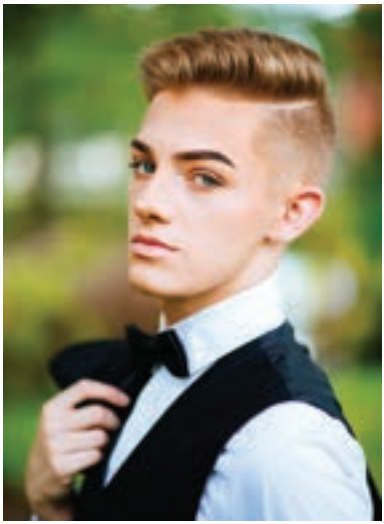
GUEST PERFORMER



Aria Rey

Countertenor, Hunter Sabin was born in Dallas, TX and graduated from Texas State University with a BM in vocal performance in 2022 where he studied voice under the highly esteemed soprano, Cheryl Parrish. During a 2019 tour of Italy, he was a concert soloist in many of the world's most famous cathedrals including Basilica di San Pietro (Rome), Chiesa di Sant'Agnese in Agone (Rome), Basilica di San Francesco d'Assisi (Assisi), Scuola Grande di San Rocco (Venice), and the Chiesa di San Gaetano (Florence). Most recently Hunter was seen performing his first professional role with American Baroque Opera Company for their production of Handel's Rodelinda (Unulfo). Other opera credits include the title role of Handel's Xerxes (Xerxes), Purcell's Dido and Aeneas (Sorceress), Massenet's Cendrillon (Madame de la Haltière), Mozart's Die Zauberflöte (Spirit), and Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel (chorus). He has also been seen in multiple musical theatre productions. In 2016, he was seen in Chicago playing the countertenor role of Mary Sunshine with Mainstage Irving Las Colinas. Hunter's other musical theatre credits include Little Shop of Horrors (Seymour), Disney's The Little Mermaid (Sebastian), and Disney's Beauty and the Beast (Monsieur D'arque). Hunter also performed in many ensembles during his time in University. Sabin served as a member of both of the two top ensembles at his university, VocaLibre and Texas State Chorale. In 2019, he performed The Brahms Requiem with Texas State Chorale, Conspirare, and the Austin Symphony Orchestra.

For the past seven years, Sabin has been taking over the nightlife scene as an established drag performer in the Dallas and Austin area, known as his alter ego, "Aria Rey." Local drag entertainer Aria Rey has been performing in drag all across the state of Texas since 2017. She combines glamour, pop, fashion, dance and singing in her eclectic drag persona. Aria performed at the ACL music festival in 2023 as well as many other drag shows and brunches across the state.
